Entrance & refund principle

Customer service that pays off

■ When entering the facilities, your customers receive a voucher which can be redeemed in the store as a coupon. This results in additional revenue, consumer customers use your facilities free of charge and unauthorised persons remain outside.

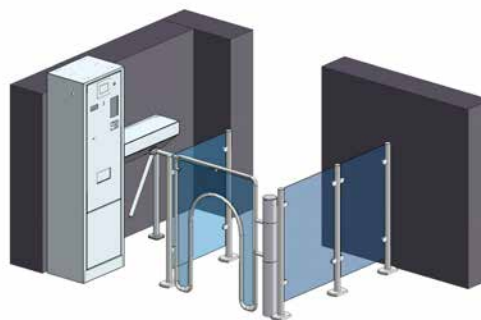

With the entrance and refund principle, your investment costs will pay for themselves within a short time. Wanzl's reliable access controls play a key role here. The following example calculations demonstrate a rewarding model for your company.
